Making the most of technology in the classroom

Trainer

Sarah Ellis
Head of Assessment Services, Cambridge English

The session aims are:

This session is designed to support Teachers of English in extending their knowledge of digital tools and resources for developing their students language skills both in and out of the classroom.

It will include practical ideas for teachers to use for language development and exam preparation.

The session will also look at professional development for teachers (CPD) and introduce the Cambridge English Digital framework as a tool for teachers to enhance their own professional development in 'digital' competences and skills.
